Topics: A Violette History is being published a chapter at a time

Work has begun on A Violette History - a book about the early times for the Violettes and especially about Francois and his descendants and the places where they lived and what they did. The book will be published at the web site VioletteFamily.org a chapter at a time, and the first chapter - Introduction - is there now in draft form. Click the Family Hist button at any time to see the current chapters.

Readers are encouraged to make comments on chapters or to post questions about the materials. We want the information to be as accurate and complete as possible.

Read more about the planned process in the story at the web site entitled A Violette History - book underway.
